

OBODY KNOWS how long a KNABE PIANO will last, for nobody has yet seen one worn out, and they have been made for more than SEV-ENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Will cost a little more to begin with than a good piano of some other make, but-you simply cannot wear it out. This is because of the exacting care taken in selecting the materials and the infinite pains used in puting them together.

It takes six months longer to build a KNABE than it does the average piano, and that six months means years added to its life.

· Our KNABE ROOM will be a delight to the critical to visit. All of the charming models are here—Grands and Uprights.
